Project Summary

The overall objective of the EURASIA project is to introduce high quality European Studies programs in universities in India and China and to enhance the visibility of EU-related topics through the creation of professional academic networks. The project aims to bring positive and long-term impact to higher education institutions in India and China through concerted and focused capacity-building for faculty and staff. EURASIA is a unique initiative with a significant potential to strengthen the international cooperation and dialogue between the European partners and the higher education institutions in India and China.

Project Objectives

The EURASIA project aims to achieve the following objectives:

1. To contribute to capacity building in India and China in the field of European studies that can effectively enhance the EU-India and EU-China cooperation and dialogue as articulated in the 2016 EU Global Strategy in a Globalizing World.
2. To respond to partner institutions' needs for new education and training modules in European studies and to improve already established BA and MA level programs in EU related subjects.
3. To strengthen the internationalization of education in the participating universities through the establishment of new networks of researchers and faculty in the field of EU studies.
4. To encourage intercultural communication between countries and regions.
5. To improve competences and capacity of partner universities to deliver quality undergraduate and graduate level education in EU studies.
6. To provide faculty and young researchers in partner universities in India and China with innovative opportunities for training, mobility and learning exchange.

EURASIA is a 3-year project, implemented from 15 Oct. 2017 to 14 July 2021.

This book is an attempt to provide “perspectives” on the relevance of “European Studies” as a disciplinary category for the Asian region. That being the primary focus, the book aims to serve a larger purpose. First, it provides insights on European society, polity, and economy (including “European Integration”) as they are accounted in European Studies. The epistemological character of the knowledge thus conveyed will have larger credibility and reliability such that they can become policy inputs and imaginations for strengthening Asian-European relationship. This approach will also help overcome the trap of subjectively motivated discourses on Europe which may fail potential collaborations between the region. Second, the design and discursivity of European Studies, will be an instruction to the Asian region on the constitutive potential of regional studies in society-building. Third, the book aims to create the imagination, “Europe”, in the minds of Asian students, researchers, and decision-makers. This is extremely relevant for the future relationship and cultural engagement between the two regions. The book will be of interest to policy-makers, academics, embassies, state level government offices, researchers, and students.

The book is based on the EURASIA Virtual Dissemination Conference under the same title. (Annexes 5 & 6)

B. The Experience of Examining the PhD: An International Comparative Study of Processes and Standards of Doctoral Examination Routledge, Taylor& Francis Group (Forthcoming)

Agreement 1/06/2021; Delivery date 31 March 2022

The book is based on research conducted by EURASIA partners on the experience of doctoral studies of assessment. The volume has contributions beyond the project partnership invited and inspired for the research by the small EURASIA project on doctoral studies.

Special Issues of Journals

Politeja - EURASIA Special Issue

About the journal: Politeja was founded in 2004 as an academic journal edited at the Faculty of International and Political Studies of the Jagiellonian University in Kraków and published by Księgarnia Akademicka Ltd. Initially biannual, Politeja now issues six volumes a year in an open-access mode.

Politeja considers articles belonging to the field of broadly understood Political Science, International Relations, and Cultural Studies.

We invite academics as well as PhD students to submit scholarly articles and book reviews that are original, not published before and not at the same time reviewed by any other journal. The journal accepts contributions in Polish and English. The publication is free of charge. The journal does not have article processing charges, editorial charges, or any other fees.

Publication forthcoming - October 2021. The papers from the list below have undergone robust scientific review and have been accepted for publication.

Student publications

1. The students participating in the summer school on EU-China Relations have been invited to submit short papers based on their collaborative work in preparation for the summer school sessions in International Observation is an internal journal of GIIS (GDUFS).

Deadline for submission of papers for review – 20 September 2021.

International Observation is an internal journal of GIIS (GDUFS) which is mainly edited for offices and departments of Guangdong Provincial Governments. Readers include governors of the province, mayor of Guangzhou Municipality, and governmental offices of all levels. The journal mainly covers areas of international hot issues, China (Guangdong)’s relations with the world, and so on. Thus, the journal is highly policy-oriented.

2. The following articles in the forthcoming Politeja issue are written by PhD students:

EU policy in Central Asia: an externally constructed regionalism	Kamen Velichov
China – EU’s Significant “Other”? Not a Chess Game Strategy	Martin Milanov
